

Lindfield's Great Big Green Week

By Chris Lee

Lindfield's Great Big Green Week, organised by our very own climate action group - Fairer World Lindfield - was a bumper week of events during September.

All the Zoom talks were well-attended throughout the week and recordings can be found on Fairer World Lindfield's Facebook Page. The guided nature walk around Lindfield was a delight, with 17 walkers learning, amongst other things, how to age a tree. Mims Davies MP plus five other local Councillors joined local residents who enjoyed a tour around Cockhaise Farm to hear what Organic Farmer of the Year Dan Burdett is doing to regenerate the farm's soil and produce organic milk.

Local High Street shops did us proud by decorating their windows with a Green Theme. This could be a colour theme or an offering of eco-friendly products. Tuffnells, Ounce, South Downs Cellar, Doodie Stark, Caragon, Kell & Collins and Peter Voight (violin restoration) put on great displays. The Best Dressed Window award was presented to Peter Voight.

Fairer World Lindfield's stall on Village Day brought together Lindfield's upcoming Repair Café, Fill Good plastic free products delivered to your door, and Make Do & Mend as well as awareness around Fairtrade. Our local Co-op and Waitrose generously provided Fairtrade food items for display and a raffle. Fairer World Lindfield are grateful to Lindfield Parish Council's Climate Change Working Group for a donation towards the costs of Great Big Green Week events.

Look out for our next Climate Café on Zoom with Author Jeremy Williams who will talk about his new book on Climate Change and the struggle for Climate Justice on Thursday 18th November at 7.30pm.
