

Virtual screening of climate change film: Kiss The Ground

By Peter Desmond

Fairer World Lindfield, in collaboration with Cockhaise Farm, is screening the compelling and inspirational film Kiss The Ground. The film powerfully demonstrates how our relationship with food directly impacts the planet as a whole. When we're farming in a more sustainable way, we can regenerate our soil, strengthen local economies, make our communities more resilient, promote biodiversity, restore ecosystems, fight climate change, and heal our bodies. Of course, we are not all farmers but many of us have gardens and allotments; the film shows that we can work from the ground up in our communities to make a difference to the environment and our own health.

Kiss The Ground reveals that, by regenerating the world's soils, we can restore lost ecosystems, create abundant food supplies and stabilise the earth's climate. One of our local farmers, Dan Burdett from Cockhaise Farm, will be available to chat afterwards about his vision for how farmers and our local community can benefit from regenerative agricultural techniques.

If you'd like to book a seat at this free virtual screening on Tuesday 12th January from 7pm to 9pm, please email fairerworldlindfield@gmail.com or call 01444 484063.
